Exquisite Westover colonial

By Kasey Schefflin-Emerich

Positioned on a cul-de-sac lot on approximately 1 landscaped acre in the desirable section of Westover lies this beautiful custom-built colonial reflecting the proud traditions of home building.

"Every sun-filled room offers 9-foot ceilings, meticulous finishes of rich hardwood floors and extensive crown molding/millwork," said Bryan Morris, co-listing agent with Denise Napoleone of William Pitt Sotheby's International Realty. "The dramatic two-story entry and wonderful flow make this home perfect for today's sophisticated homeowner."

The gourmet eat-kitchen is stunning and includes granite countertops, high-end stainless steel appliances, butler's pantry with a wet bar, walk-in storage pantry, breakfast bar and sliders leading to an expansive patio. The family room, which has a fireplace and built-in benches with storage, is great for entertaining and provides an open floor plan to the kitchen.

Included in the more than 4,800 square feet of living space are a formal dining room that offers plenty of natural sunlight and is perfect for holding dinner parties, a study/library with embagony paneling and built-ins, and a master suite featuring two walk-in closets, fireplace, balcony, and large luxurious master bath with heated floors and jacuzzi tub.

There is also a bonus room that offers an additional 800 square feet of finished living space, along with a partially finished basement that gives almost 2,000 square feet more space.
