The center hall Colonial shown in the first episode of the popular television show “Mad Men” is on the market in New Rochelle for $1,150,000, according to Patch’s real estate partners at Zillow.com.

Located at 90 Forest Ave. \(http://www.zillow.com/homedetails/90-Forest-Ave-New-Rochelle-NY-10804/32963205\_zpid/?utm\_source=Patch&utm\_medium=referral&utm\_campaign=patch\_newrochelle&ck

the six-bedroom, three-and-a-half bathroom home was used as the backdrop of where the characters Don and Betty Draper lived before their divorce, although on the show the two were said to reside in Ossining.

The house was built in 1914, and it features four fireplaces, nine-foot tall ceilings on the first floor, a “park-like setting” and a full, walkout basement.

It measures 3,544 square feet, and it has served as the backdrop for numerous commercials and made-for-TV movies, according to listing agent Eileen Kelly of Julia B. Fee Sotheby's Realty.

You can see the home for yourself today, June 14; Kelly is holding an open house from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.
