Stamford, Conn. – July 1, 2015 – William Pitt Sotheby's International Realty (<http://www.williampitt.com/eng>) announced today that Carol Frattaroli, an agent from the firm's North Stamford brokerage, took home the Woman's Crown at the 2015 Stamford Amateur Golf Championship. The competition, which took place this past Sunday, June 28th, 2015, was held at the Sterling Farms Golf Course (<http://sterlingfarmsgc.com/index.htm>) in Stamford, Conn.

The Stamford Amateur Golf Championship takes place every year, presenting the opportunity for local amateur golfers to compete on their home course at Sterling Farms. This 18-hole public golf facility encompasses over 144 acres of land that was once a local dairy farm. Known for its rolling terrain and picturesque setting, the Sterling Farms course offers challenging holes and the ideal setting for city tournaments.

Frattaroli, a native resident of Stamford, effortlessly led the front nine holes, momentarily falling back on the 11th hole. Remaining strong, she eventually caught the lead, concluding the women's portion of the championship with a perfect putt. This marked Frattaroli's first win of her hometown championship.

"On behalf of the entire North Stamford brokerage, I would like to congratulate Carol for her victory in this past weekend's tournament," said Doreen Bronner, manager of William Pitt Sotheby's International Realty's North Stamford brokerage. "This annual championship has been a part of the Stamford community for many years, and being able to take home the crown is quite the feat. We are all very impressed, and applaud Carol for this great accomplishment."
