WESTPORT, Conn -- William Pitt Sotheby's International Realty announced that the company has acquired the assets of Nicholas H. Fingelly Real Estate in Southport and Westport, and will now operate under the William Pitt Sotheby's name.

Due to its heritage, community involvement and reputation for exceptional service in the real estate industry, Fingelly was an ideal fit for William Pitt Sotheby's, executives felt.

"This new association brings our clients and agents a level of reach that was not previously available to them," said Cathy, Ginny and Vicky Fingelly in a statement. "The international exposure with connections to real estate experts all over the world, extraordinary marketing both nationally and globally, cutting-edge technology, preeminent branding and incredible referral opportunities are just a few of the extraordinary benefits that will now enhance our business."

Fingelly has been associated with the preservation of traditional local architecture through purchasing, renovating and a building's maintaining historic integrity. Currently, the firm is managed by the late Fingelly's three daughters.
