Team offers white-glove service

Local real estate agent Carolyn Sullivan has been in the business for seven years — first doing referrals and then, two years ago, as a licensed Realtor.

“I’ve always loved real estate, sales, staging and decorating, so it was an easy decision for me,” she said of the profession.

At first, she just did referrals while she worked for a prominent plastic surgeon, but when she left that job, she jumped right into working for William Pitt Sotheby’s International Realty. Today, she is part of the TSS Realty Group alongside fellow Realtors Chris Titus and Cliff Sullivan.

They use the power of three to offer more to their clients such as white-glove customer service and truly caring about the needs of their clients, Sullivan said.

“We believe in going above and beyond and making our clients happy while having the best possible experience whether buying or selling,” she said.

They serve mostly Norwalk, Westport, Weston, Easton, Southport, Fairfield, Trumbull and Ridgefield.

Sullivan, who enjoys spinning and going to the gym when she’s not working, raised her family in Southport for 17 years and moved to Westport five years ago. She is engaged and has three children: Max, 24; Austin, 22; and Carly, 18. She also loves traveling and is a self-proclaimed foodie.

She graduated from The College at Brockport near Rochester, N.Y., and has a bachelor’s in business specializing in marketing. Following graduation, Sullivan has
