Julia B. Fee Sotheby's hosts fundraiser to fight domestic violence

Julia B. Fee Sotheby's International Realty will once again partner with My Sisters' Place, a Westchester County-based organization that works to fight domestic violence, in hosting a fundraising "A Taste of Rye" restaurant crawl from 3 to 5:30 pm. Sept. 24.

The company is currently selling tickets to the event for $50 to raise money for the cause. Additional funds will be gathered through a company-held silent auction, featuring items donated from local Rye merchants. All money raised will go directly to My Sisters' Place in support of its efforts to end domestic violence by helping victims while focusing on community education and prevention. My Sisters' Place also combats human trafficking throughout Westchester County, and it offers advocacy, shelter and legal services to those in need.

Purchase of a ticket allows participants to "sip, snack and stroll," gaining them a drink and a specially prepared appetizer by the chef at each of nine restaurants featured on the tasting tour.

"Over the last few years, we have raised over $100,000 for this very worthwhile organization, gaining recognition by My Sisters' Place for our efforts," said Julia B. Fee Sotheby's International Realty Rye brokerage manager Pati Holmes. "We thank everyone who has participated for their continued support. I hope even more members of the community will be able to attend and volunteer their time to help end domestic violence and human trafficking at this year's event."

Tickets can be purchased online at atasteofrye.com.
