

William Pitt, Julia B. Fee Sotheby's launch new blog series focusing on luxury listings

Stamford — William Pitt and Julia B. Fee Sotheby's International Realty recently launched a new monthly blog series, "The Top Ten." Each entry in the series will feature 10 of the company's most spectacular properties that fit a specific theme each month.

Brokerage managers Carolyn Fugere of Larchmont, N.Y., and Kristine Newell of Litchfield Hills and Berkshire County, Mass., collaborated to cultivate this new marketing concept, drawing upon their combined more than 32 years of luxury real estate experience. The series' first post showcases 10 residential alternatives to the Hamptons throughout New England and Westchester County. Future entries will highlight properties with luxurious front porches and swimming pools.

The retreat-like properties mentioned in the first post include 803 the Parkway in Mamaroneck, N.Y., 3 Shore Road in Rye, 1000 Old White Plains Road in Mamaroneck, 16 Pryer Lane in Larchmont, as well as 82 Hartford Ave. in Madison, Conn., 264 Taugwonk Road in Stonington, 279 North Ave. in Westport, 200 Kenmont Road in Kent, 124 Lake Drive South in New Fairfield and 151 Walker St. in Lenox, Mass.

"We welcome interested individuals to browse and power-shop our carefully curated selection with an emphasis on unparalleled quality and premier destination," said Fugere and Newell. "'The Top Ten' uses current trends, creativity and the powerful reach of social media to help spread awareness and interest, engaging potential buyers with our company's truly spectacular listings."
