William Pitt Sotheby's Ridgefield brokerage displays local artwork

Ridgefield — William Pitt Sotheby's International Realty's Ridgefield brokerage recently hosted a gallery opening reception, which displayed works by local artist Amy Bock in conjunction with the Ridgefield Guild of Artists "Open Studio Day." The event was coordinated by Ridgefield agent Paul Gervais, who is also a member of the Guild.

The Ridgefield office regularly teams up with the Ridgefield Guild of Artists to serve as a satellite gallery throughout the year, featuring the works of local and regional artists whose paintings are rotated every three to four months. All exhibits are open to the public for viewing during normal business hours and available for sale.

The firm's most recent gallery, "Varied & Various," includes a selection of paintings from Bock, who lives and maintains a studio in Ridgefield. Bock is a multi-award winning artist with paintings and mixed media works exhibited at various venues. Her images have been published in many national magazines and other publications, while her artwork resides in several private collections.

"We are always thrilled to collaborate with the Ridgefield Guild of Artists," said Joe Monaco, manager of William Pitt Sotheby's International Realty's Ridgefield brokerage. "It's a wonderful way to enhance the decor of our office, while promoting great local talent. We graciously invite all to stop by to view Amy's art on our walls."
