

Paul Breunich Named One of the Most Powerful People in Residential Real Estate on Swanepoel Power 200

William Pitt-Julia B. Fee Sotheby's International Realty announced that President and CEO Paul Breunich was named on the 2019 Swanepoel Power 200. Breunich ranked No. 104 on the annual national list of the most powerful people in the residential real estate brokerage industry.

Realty Holdings Corp., which is the leading and most integrated provider of residential real estate services in the U.S., delivering its services through well-known industry brands including Sotheby's International Realty®, dominated the definitive industry ranking. The organization had 32 employees, affiliated brokers and independent sales associates on the list. Notably, Realty leaders also accounted for five of the Top 20 Most Powerful Women Executives.

"Congratulations to all the industry leaders, influencers and individual powerhouses who made this year's Swanepoel Power 200 list," said Ryan Schneider, CEO and president of Realty. "I am fortunate and proud to get to work with many of them here at Realty where together across our businesses and brands we work to empower, grow and support our agents and franchisees every day."

"It's truly an honor to be named to this year's Swanepoel Power 200," said Breunich. "To appear next to some of the most powerful and inspiring individuals in residential real estate is humbling, and it could not be possible without the efforts of our entire firm. I am grateful for the success we achieved in 2018."

Paul Breunich, President and CEO of William Pitt-Julia B. Fee Sotheby's International Realty